

Learn how to plan and engage people through a change process

Change Management

Overview

Change is natural, change is a constant, yet change can be one of the hardest things individuals, organisations and communities face.

Regardless of the context, understanding the fundamentals of change management is essential if you are in a role where you are supporting or leading engagement or change. There are both structural and psychological considerations to managing change. This workshop takes a practical look at change management and is designed to help you plan and engage people through the change process.

Learning Outcomes

- Increase your understanding of the fundamentals of change management
- Increase your understanding of the key elements to consider when managing change
- Increase your capacity to plan and implement change management strategies

Participants

- C-Level Executives
- Engagement and Communications Managers/Staff
- Change Managers
- Project Coordinators /Managers

Your Trainer
Joel Levin

When will you have your next Aha! moment?

Duration

Half-day or one -day option

Delivery Modes

To maximise learning outcomes, delivery modes are not mixed:

1. In room
2. Live via an online classroom

Course Option

In-house training (at your organisation) or the Aha! Consulting public calendar

Booking + Information

For more information or inquiries about in-house training email admin@ahaconsulting.net.au or phone (+618) 9443 9474