

Change Management

HALF DAY WORKSHOP

Change is natural, change is a constant, yet change can be one of the hardest things individuals, organisations and communities face.

Regardless of the context, understanding the fundamentals of change management are essential if you are in a role where you are supporting or leading engagement or change.

There are both structural and psychological considerations to managing change. This workshop takes a practical look at change management and is designed to help you plan and engage people through the change process.

This course will:

- Increase your understanding of the fundamentals of change management
- Increase your understanding of the key elements to consider when managing change
- Increase your capacity to plan and implement change management strategies

“Great diagnostic tool that I can use in my work. Also great to explore the motivation behind change being accepted”.

Workshop Facilitator | Joel Levin

Joel Levin is the principal consultant at Aha! Consulting and has over 20 years' experience working with or in a range of sectors (Indigenous, Human Services, Planning, State Government, CALD, Environment, Commerce, Sports and Recreation, Education, Local Government, Utilities, Waste Management, Arts, Aged Care, Health, Disabilities and Justice).

Working with corporates, government and community organisations alike, Joel's engagement and facilitation skills have seen the work of Aha! Consulting expand across Australia and Internationally.

Joel is an IAP2 accredited trainer and ambassador.

Booking and information

Ph (08) 9443 9474 • admin@ahaconsulting.net.au • www.ahaconsulting.net.au